*Key content descriptions have been identified from the Australian National Curriculum. However, this is not an exhaustive list of National Curriculum content able to be addressed through studying this text.
Poetry

Ask students to choose a poem from Our Home is Dirt by Sea. Have students write this poem on a piece of paper and then fold it in half (make sure that they record the title of the poem and the book that they found it in). Then ask students to put their chosen poems into a hat or box at the front of the classroom. Throughout the week, select random poems from the box and read aloud. Ask students to discuss why they like/dislike this poem and what type of poem it is. Choose interesting words from the poems for further discussion.

Discuss different forms of poetry with students. Identify the styles of poetry used in this book. How are they similar? How are they different? Ask students which style they prefer.

Reading Aloud

Ask students to choose a poem from Our Home is Dirt by Sea to recite to the class. After they have recited the poem ask them to share why they chose this particular poem.

Ask groups of students to take turns reading a line each of a particular poem. When they have practised a few times ask the group to perform their poem to the class. How does a poem change with different voices reading it?

Discussing the Book

What is the purpose of a table of contents? Why would one be included in this book?

Locate the contents then read the titles of the poems in your section of the book. Choose one title which intrigues you and write your own poem using that title. (You may like to use the words and phrases you have brainstormed as inspiration.) After you have written your poem, compare it with the version printed in the book. Was it like you expected? How were the subjects, themes and poetic style similar and different to your poem?

Create a collage or other visual representation of a poem or section from Our Home is Dirt by Sea. This should use pictures and found objects, font, colour and composition to reflect the main subjects and themes of the poem/group of poems. Display these in the classroom.

Choose one poem and rewrite as if it were prose (ordinary grammatical structure). Compare the poem and your prose adaptation and use it as a base for a class discussion on the difference between poetry and prose.

Have a class “scavenger hunt” and see who is first to locate the language techniques and types of poems listed below. (You may like to work in pairs for this activity – and make sure you remember to write down the quotes and/or page numbers!) After completing this activity, use the quotes you’ve found to create a memory card game where you match up the following techniques with examples from the book:

Language techniques
- rhyme
- rhetorical question (one that doesn’t seek an answer)
- repetition
- pun (a play on words)
- hyperbole (extreme exaggeration)
- alliteration (where the first letters of words near each other are repeated for poetic effect)
- direct speech (something someone says aloud)
- onomatopoeia (where a word imitates the sound it represents)
- simile (a comparison using “like” or “as”)
- metaphor (a comparison where one thing is said to be another)
- first person (“I”)
- aural imagery (description which appeals to sound or hearing)
- visual imagery (description which appeals to how something looks)
- olfactory imagery (description which appeals to how something smells)
- tactile imagery (description relating to the sense of touch)
- italics
- enjambment (where a sentence continues from one line to the next without punctuation)
- ellipsis (…)
- parentheses (brackets)
- sentences made of one word
- words written in CAPITAL LETTERS

Types of poems
- a prose poem (a poem set out as if it was not a poem, with the lines stretching all the way across the page)
- a poem with stanzas
- a poem written in a child’s voice
- a poem which uses different fonts (lettering)
- a humorous poem
- a sad poem
